

These Days Masters of Deceit

By George E. Sokolsky

STATINTL

EUGENE DENNIS, the head of the Communist Party of the United States, has been known as Frank Waldron and as Paul Walsh. It is not unusual for Communists to use a variety of names. Lenin's true name was Ilyanov; Stalin's true name was Dzhugashvili. But Sokolsky's correct name was Bronstein. So Frank Waldron, born at Seattle, used the name of Eugene Dennis.

But this is not my story. What I am coming to is his son, Eugene. When Dennis was still Waldron, he fell in love with Regina Karasick Schneiderman, the wife of a Communist colleague. Reggie (Regina) was born in Brooklyn. The Schneiders were divorced. A son was born to the Waldrons who, at that particular moment, were using the name of Walsh. Thus it appears that Regina Karasick Walsh was traveling in Europe in 1931 with her son, Timothy Walsh, who was born in Los Angeles, Calif., on Nov. 30, 1929. It is clear from the record and photographs that Reggie Karasick Schneiderman is the same person as Reggie Karasick Walsh and from the date and place and photographs, it is clear that Timothy Walsh is the son of Eugene Dennis.

IN 1930, Frank Waldron got into difficulties with the Los Angeles police. He was arrested, jumped bail and escaped to Russia. There he was joined by his wife and Timothy. It was during this first visit that Waldron-Walsh became Eugene Dennis. In 1935, he returned to the United States, but there is no evidence or record of Timothy ever returning to the United States as Timothy Walsh or Waldron or Dennis.

Here the story of Timothy Walsh or Timothy Waldron passes from view. But among Nikita Khrushchev's close and intimate advisers, who came to this country for the United Nations General Assembly, was Timur Timofeevich Timofeev. While in New York, Timothy stayed at the Sulgrave Hotel for a part of the time; then moved into the Russian Embassy. Having seen photographs of young Timothy Walsh, of his father, Eugene Dennis, and his mother, Regina Karasick, it is impossible to believe that Timur Timofeevich Timofeev is other than the Timothy Walsh who disappeared in Soviet Russia between 1931 and 1935. Also, the two are of the same age; it would be conclusive that Eugene Dennis gave his son to the cause of which he is now the American chief.

Therefore, it is interesting to assume that one of Nikita Khrushchev's principal advisers on American affairs is a native American whatever his present citizenship may be. Although I have no doubt whatsoever that I am right about this, futile efforts have been made to discuss this with Timur. Two reporters asked for Timur at the Sulgrave Hotel. Immediately thereafter he was moved from the Sulgrave Hotel to the Russian Embassy on Park Avenue and he was only seen thereafter in Khrushchev's automobile. He refused to see reporters, although they saw him.

THERE IS little significance in all this except for the fact that there are a number of Americans—that is persons who are entitled to have American passports—who are serving Soviet Russia in the United States. In fact, there are a number of Americans who have made Mexico their headquarters and who operate a sort of United States Government in exile. In Mexico and in Cuba, Soviet Russia centers an espionage system not only for Latin America but on the United States. Regarding the latter, practically all the operatives are American citizens.

When Khrushchev makes such a fuss about the U-2, how does it happen that no American voice is raised concerning his espionage operations within the United States? Why was he not asked on David Susskind's program to explain why his trawlers cut our cables in the Atlantic? Why was he not asked about Russian planes flying over Alaska, of which our authorities have photographs? Why was he not asked about the trawlers and submarines which sail close to our coast to watch our rocket and missile tests? Why was he not asked about Americans who act as Russian spies?

In a word, Khrushchev uses native Americans to spy on us and then shouts about our employing whatever means we can to defend ourselves. Those who protest the U-2, forget the Rosenberg case, forget the Alger Hiss case, and many others.
